June 2020 Training

Coping with Challenges of Remote Learning

Maintaining Social Relationships, Reducing Trauma, and Building Resiliency

COVID-19 has changed the face of education almost overnight. For parents, teachers, and school administrators, it can be difficult adjusting to the “new normal” of remote learning. Please join us to learn about how school districts, large and small, are adjusting to support their students with disabilities, tips and techniques for parents to help their child keep up on remote assignments, resources for students, parents, and district staff to support and supplement remote learning, and how to blend resiliency characteristics into academic lessons and conversations.

Presenter: Catherine Ricchetti, LCSW-R, Guilderland Central School District
Lisa Knowles, Director for Pupil Personnel Services, Guilderland Central School District
Matthew Wright, Director of Curriculum and Pupil Services, Schoharie Central School District
Kim Blasiak, Parent, NYS PTA Family Engagement Coordinator, Founder of Special Education PTA at Guilderland Central School District
